INSTITUTE

“dum vita est spes est”

- Participate in the class discussions. Ask questions and integrate learning into daily practice.
- Complete all your homework assignments.
- Don't just study the night before the exam. It's too much information for your brain to take in and you might forget everything. The best way is, whenever you can, prepare for your exam days or even weeks before. The night before the exam, you should just look over your notes to make sure you know them.
- Practice, practice, practice your lab skills. The more you practice, the more skilled you become!

Conclusion

- We want you to succeed at Alberta Caregiving Institute.
